Study IN STOCKHOLM

Stockholms Akademiska Forum
UNIVERSITIES IN COOPERATION
Stockholm
– an international environment with strong universities

Stockholm is the capital of Sweden and the largest university town in the Nordic countries. About 80,000 students, 5,000 of whom are international, study at the somewhat more than twenty universities and university colleges in this area. There is a broad supply of education and there are many master’s programmes in English among which to choose.

The academic level at the universities/university colleges is high with enthusiastic and competent teachers and researchers. Stockholm is doing well in an international comparison. Cooperation between university colleges and universities in other countries is common and the latest research findings, the latest methods and the best tools are included in the teaching. There is a relaxed atmosphere at the universities/university colleges, thereby providing good opportunities for informal contacts between teachers and students.

A city for everyone
Stockholm is an international environment where you meet people from all over the world. By studying abroad, you are given the possibility of getting to know the habits and behaviour of other people. Most Swedes speak good English and are positive and helpful. Swedes are also one of the groups of people in the world with the highest level of equality. Stockholm has a pulsating nightlife and offers a broad range of cultural events.

Green and safe
Stockholm is one of the cleanest cities in Europe with many green areas, parks and beaches in the middle of the city. Interspersed among the residential quarters are shops, theatres, restaurants, museums, pubs and cafés. Each part of the city has its own history and attracts people with different tastes. The archipelago with its 24,000 islands, islets and clean water lies around the corner, ready to be explored on one of the ferries that leave the city every day. Stockholm is very low on the world-wide lists of crime statistics and is considered to be a safe city.

Most welcome to Stockholm!
Different kinds of housing in Stockholm

Most exchange students who come to Stockholm get help in finding housing from their university college or university. If you do not come as an exchange student, you will have to find your own housing.

The most common kind of housing in Stockholm is to rent a student room or student flat. The housing standard is high.

If you choose to live in a student room in a corridor, you will have your own room and bathroom but will share a kitchen with other students. Living in a corridor is usually appreciated among international students since it is a good way of getting into student life. But some students instead choose to live in a student flat with its own kitchenette or kitchen in order to be entirely independent. If you need to find housing on your own, it is important to start well in advance. Below, you will find links to housing agencies where you can queue up before coming to Sweden.

Student in the capital

Student unions at all universities/university colleges organise a wide range of activities for those who want to become involved in student life and get to know new people in this way. But Stockholm is also the cultural centre of Sweden with concert arenas, restaurants, pubs, dance venues, museums and a broad range of sports and club activities.

Eleanor Fenton is an exchange student from University of Melbourne in Australia.

– I have never felt lonely in Stockholm. Every day, there are activities in which to participate. For me and my friends, the Wednesday pub at Stockholm University is a must. Besides that, it is good to live in a student corridor, there is always something going on.

Something for everyone

What does student life in Stockholm have to offer? Here is a sample selection of activities.

If you like music. Every year, the Stockholm University Student Union organises a large festival that is free of charge. The festival is also open to the general public and provides scope for both well-known and less established bands and performers. During three days in May, the entire Frescati area outside Stockholm is filled with people who are hungry for music and can enjoy singing, festival food and beer.

Other famous student arranged events are KTH’s QuarneVALEN and SQUALP. QuarneVALEN is the largest student event in Northern Europe and is organised in Stockholm every third year. Thousands of students from all universities and university colleges in Sweden then build vehicles to transport them around the streets of Stockholm. The audience normally amounts to about 400 000 people!

SQUALP in turn is like QuarneVALEN but on water and is a yearly event, as is also the Södertörn Campus festival with its cultural activities within dancing, theatre and music.

Besides festivals, the student unions arrange pubs, concerts, dinners, different kinds of parties, sports

Links to housing agencies

www.sssb.se The largest student housing landlord in Stockholm.

www.svebo.se The second largest student housing landlord in Stockholm (only available in Swedish).

www.stockholmtown.com Link to hotels and youth hostels.

www.uac.se If you are a student or visiting researcher at Stockholm University, Karolinska Institutet, KTH (Royal Institute of Technology) or Stockholm School of Economics you can contact University Accommodation Center which lets furnished flats and rooms.

www.sokstudentbostad.se Links to other housing landlords in Sweden.
Activities outside student life
If you do not wish to participate in student life, there is a large number of other things to do in Stockholm.

Useful links for first-time visitors:

www.studyinsweden.se Everything about studies in Sweden.
www.stockholmtown.com The official visitor’s guide to Stockholm.
www.alltomstockholm.se Everything about shopping, bars, pubs and restaurants, yes EVERYTHING you can imagine.
www.althuset.nu Pubs and concerts at Allhuset at Stockholm University.
www.ticnet.se If you are interested in theatre, concerts, musicals, ice-hockey etc, this is the website for you.
www.studyinstockholm.se A new website with everything you need to know about studying in Stockholm. Everything from the weather in Stockholm to the educations among which you can choose.
www.sl.se Information on how you get to all exciting places in Stockholm. Here you can find out how to easily get from one place to another by underground, bus and boat.
www.sj.se How to get around in Sweden by train.
www.sas.se The Scandinavian airline with cheap standby tickets for students.
www.smhi.se For information about climate and weather in Sweden.

Activities in Stockholm
Stockholm offers a great range of things to do in one’s spare time. At the web site www.stockholmtown.com under the heading Activities, you will find information about somewhat different things that you can try out, for example island-hopping in the Stockholm archipelago, trips by air balloon or climbing. Among fitness centres under the same heading, you will find the sport association Stockholms Studenter Idrottsförbunden, SSIF, which offers both regular gym- and aerobics activities and many different courses (for example indoor bandy, quigong and bowling). In Frescatihallen at Stockholm University, where SSIF has its premises, you can also play badminton, tennis or squash. Read more at www.ssif.su.se. The activities are open to everyone, also to those who are not students.

SIRAP
SIRAP, Stockholm International Researchers Association, is an association especially targeting those who are in Stockholm to continue their studies or research at any of the university colleges or universities in Stockholm. The incentives for creating the association came from a network for internationalisation, Study in Stockholm, and the intention was to bring visiting researchers and their families together in common activities.

Gareth Morgan is the chairman of SIRAP.
– SIRAP has 620 registered members but (naturally) not everyone is active within all activities. Information about activities (see below) and excursions is announced to all registered individuals in the form of a Newsletter distributed by e-mail. Our particular target group is visiting researchers and others who study in Stockholm and their families, but also other people are welcome to join our events and excursions. The idea is that people meet and enjoy themselves together. Many researchers work alone and need to meet other people with the same questions about living in Sweden etc.

What kind of activities are arranged by SIRAP?
– We organise a club evening once a month with different topics. Sometimes, there can be a lecture about Swedes as a people, and at other times on the Swedish language, wolves in Sweden or various other subjects. There are also small groups, SIRAP Circles, of people who meet because of a shared interest, for example wine tasting, basketball, tennis etc. Moreover, we organise excursions to various places in Sweden. Last year, we went to Dalarna by coach and went biking on Utö in Stockholm archipelago. The idea with the excursions is to visit places that might be somewhat inaccessible to the individual. As in previous years, we went to the Christmas fair in Taxinge south of Stockholm in November.

What countries are represented on the board?
– The SIRAP Board is an enthusiastic group of volunteers from many different countries, for example the US, Hungary, Poland, Scotland, Sweden, Peru, Netherlands and Germany. To get in touch with us, visit our homepage www.sirap.info where you will find information about the chairman and other members. SIRAP membership is free of charge.
Universities and University Colleges

1 Beckmans College of Design (Metro: Östermalmstorg)
2 Ersta Sköndal University College (Campus Ersta) (Metro: Medborgarplatsen)
3 Ersta Sköndal University College (Campus Sköndal)
   (Metro: Högkarlen; change to bus 182 to Stora Sköndal)
4 Karolinska Institutet (Campus Solna) (Metro: St Erikslin)
5 Karolinska Institutet (Campus Huddinge) (Commuter Train Station: Flemingsberg)
6 National Academy of Mime and Acting (Metro: Skanstull)
7 Royal College of Music in Stockholm (Metro: Stadion)
8 Royal Institute of Technology (head campus) (Metro: Tekniska Högskolan)
9 Royal University College of Fine Arts (Metro: Kungsträdgården)
10 Sophiahemmet University College (Metro: Tekniska Högskolan)
11 Stockholm School of Economics (Metro: Rådmansgatan)
12 Stockholm School of Theology (Metro: Bromma plan)
13 Stockholm University (Metro: Universitetet)
14 Södertörn University College (Commuter Train Station: Flemingsberg)
15 The Erika Foundation (Metro: Tekniska Högskolan)
16 The Red Cross University College of Nursing (Metro: Tekniska Högskolan)
17 The Stockholm Institute of Education (Metro: Thöördplan)
18 The Swedish School of Sport and Health Sciences (Metro: Stadion)
19 The University College of Opera (Metro: Tekniska Högskolan)
20 University College of Arts, Crafts and Design (Metro: Telefonplan)
21 University College of Dance (Metro: Tekniska Högskolan)
22 University College of Film, Radio, Television and Theatre (Metro: Karlplan)
23 University College of Music Education in Stockholm (Metro: Östermalmstorg)

Hot spots

24 Studentpalatset (Metro: Odenplan)
   A building in which you can book a seat/room for your studies. Reserved for students at Stockholm University, Royal Institute of Technology, Stockholm School of Economics, Karolinska Institutet and The Stockholm Institute of Education.
   Phone number: 08-674 78 80
25 SSIF, Frescati (Metro: Universitetet)
26 SSIF, Vanadis (Metro: St Erikplan)
27 Kulturhuset (Metro: T-Centralen)
   Culture house with library, café, restaurants, Swedish design, exhibitions and theatre, www.kulturhuset.stockholm.se
28 Stockholm Akademiska Forum (Metro: T-Centralen)
   We are situated in the Culture house, at the bottom floor. Your guide to university studies in Stockholm.
   www.stforum.se
29 T-Centralen, central station
30 Stockholm Tourist Centre, Sverigehuset, Hamngatan 27
   (Metro: T-Centralen/Östermalmstorg/Kungsträdgården)
   www.stockholmtown.com
Stockholms Akademiska Forum, StAF, is located in Kulturhuset at Sergels torg, in the middle of central Stockholm. We are a cooperation organisation for all university colleges and universities in Stockholm and have knowledge about most of the higher education at the university colleges/universities in Stockholm. We can also provide international students with counseling and study information.

The Network Study in Stockholm

Those twenty university colleges and universities that are part of Stockholms Akademiska Forum also cooperate within the network Study in Stockholm. The network is intended to work as a forum for discussions about internationalising higher education. For example, Study in Stockholm deals with issues about visas, housing and how to welcome international students.

The universities/university colleges that are members also take turns at organising seminars for international students about Sweden and Stockholm. The idea of the seminars is that students from different universities/university colleges get to meet each other. The seminars should, of course, also teach the visitors something about Sweden and Stockholm.

If you wish to learn more about the activities of Stockholms Akademiska Forum, visit our homepage: www.staforum.se.

Universities and university colleges in Stockholm

The universities and university colleges in Stockholm are presented on the following pages. At each page it is indicated if the university/university college offer programmes where the teaching language is English. If you would like more detailed information about what educations, including short courses, the universities/university colleges can offer, visit their respective homepages which you will find at the end of each presentation.

The universities and university colleges with most courses and programs in English are: Karolinska Institutet, Royal Institute of Technology, Stockholm University, Södertörn University College, Stockholm School of Economics and Royal College of Music in Stockholm (KMH).

What is your education worth at home?

On July 1, 2007, many universities in Sweden will change to the European-adjusted educational system Bologna.

Then, it will be easier to compare various educations in an international perspective, both as concerns grades and content. The aim of the Bologna process is to increase the mobility among students, reinforce the employability in Sweden and abroad, and reinforce Europe as an educational continent for the rest of the world. For most international students, whose countries are adapting their educations according to Bologna, this transition will mean that the education they get in Sweden can more easily be compared to a similar education in their home country.

The information boxes at each page gives you the number of programmes in English that each university/university college offers. Short courses are not included.

Here, in the middle of central Stockholm, you find Stockholms Akademiska Forum.
Beckmans College of Design

Beckmans College of Design was established in Stockholm in year 1939 by Anders Beckman and Göta Trägårdh. He was the best known commercial artist of that time with a range of well-known companies and institutions as clients – she was a leading designer of textile patterns and a much published fashion designer. Both felt the need for an independent creative school with an artistic basis and in close contact with the various labour markets on which the students might work later. There were advertisements for students and the response was immediately so strong that the establishment of the school was a fact.

Advertising, Fashion and Form

The educational programmes at Beckmans originally circulated around advertising, fashion and illustration. All teachers were exercising a profession within their respective subject areas and the students thus quickly got a natural entry into real life at the design offices and design workshops of that time. Later, they also became increasingly well known on the Swedish market.

Almost seventy years later, Beckmans remains remarkably unchanged. And yet not. The school is still located in the middle of central Stockholm, only a couple of stone’s throws from its original address. The education has an artistic and a theoretical basis. Teachers and visitors are active within their respective professions and the school has extensive contacts with firms and institutions. Fashion and Advertising and Graphic Form are still two important educational programmes. During the last 15 years, these have also been supplemented with Form, an educational programme providing a broad entranceway to product design and space layout.

Since 2003, Beckmans College of Design is a publicly financed university college for design. The educational programmes run over three years and lead to a broad education in design with a focus on product design and space layout. The focus is on a broad range of materials and knowledge about the various disciplines of three-dimensional design.

Educational programmes:

- Advertising and graphic form

A dynamic vocational education with a focus on communication within advertising, film, design and media. Cooperation projects with firms and institutions are common, as are interdisciplinary projects.

Ersta Sköndal University College

At Ersta Sköndal University College, you can study to become a nurse, social worker, deacon, theologian or church musician. The education offered by Ersta Sköndal University College is carried out in four departments, located on two campuses.

The Ersta Campus is situated in central Stockholm. The premises have recently been redecorated and the teaching takes place in light and airy lecture halls and seminar rooms with a magnificent view of Stockholm.

The Sköndal Campus is situated 10 kilometres south of Stockholm on the shores of Lake Drevviken in truly beautiful natural surroundings. Our university library has branches at both campuses.

Some courses are conducted in English, but Swedish is the main language.

Four different specialisations

The Department of Church Music offers the only education leading to a University Degree in Church Music in Sweden.

The Department of Diaconal Studies and Theology offers courses in Theology and Diaconal Studies. The diaconal education is a one-year formation programme. The theological programme consists of a basic course in Theology (60 ECTS credits), and a number of separate courses (each comprising 15 ECTS credits) at a higher academic level.

The Department of Health Care Sciences in its turn offers a three-year nursing programme and a four-year nursing programme co-ordinated with the social work programme, oriented towards elderly care. There is also a programme leading to a Master’s Degree in Nursing and a programme in specialist nursing.

Finally, The Department of Social Work offers students a four-year programme in social work, a four-year programme co-ordinated with the nursing programme, oriented towards elderly care and a programme leading to a Master’s Degree in Social Work.

Research and International Exchange

Research is mainly pursued in nursing and social work, particularly focusing on health care ethics, voluntary social work, civil society and social trust.

There are furnished rooms to rent for students at both campuses. As the number of rooms is limited, priority is given to students at Ersta and Sköndal.

Ersta Sköndal University College participates in the European exchange programme Sokrates/Erasmus and in Nordplus which offers excellent possibilities for student exchange with the Nordic countries. We also have international contacts with countries like Thailand, South Africa and the Philippines through the Linnaeus-Palme programme.

Welcome to Ersta Sköndal University College!

www.esh.se
info@esh.se
+46 8 555 050 00
Universities and university colleges

Karolinska Institutet

Karolinska Institutet (KI) is the only university in Sweden with a purely medical orientation and the largest centre for medical education and research in the country. It is also one of the largest medical universities in Europe and one of the world leading universities in this field. Over 40 percent of all medical research at Swedish universities and university colleges take place at Karolinska Institutet.

An international environment

KI offers 35 educational programmes within Medicine, Medical Care and Odontology and a number of advanced courses and single-subject courses. We can offer the broadest supply of educations within the medical area collected under “one ceiling” on our two campus areas, KI Campus Solna and KI Campus Huddinge. This leads to a natural cooperation between subject areas and professions, which contributes both to the development in medicine and to your own development.

Educations at KI are carried out in an international environment. During your time as a student, you might meet both students and visiting teachers from different countries. If you study at KI, you will also have good opportunities of doing part of your education abroad as an exchange student.

Many professions among which to choose

The future labour market in Sweden and abroad lies open to you if you have an education in medical care.

There is an increase in the number of old people in society, while the development within the medical area proceeds at an amazing speed. This means that more people will be treated during a longer period of time.

If you instead choose to do research, you can contribute to breakthroughs in medicine and participate in the development of new drugs and methods for treatment. It is no coincidence that five Nobel Prize laureates in medicine have had their work place here. You can also be part of this success story.

However, notwithstanding if you choose to work within medical care in practice or do research, you can be completely certain that by obtaining your education at Karolinska Institutet, you choose something that will give you a meaningful future – to be able to work in order to improve people’s health.

National Academy of Mime and Acting

The training of actors in Sweden began in 1787, and was initiated by King Gustaf III of Sweden. Until the mid 1960’s, the education of actors was closely connected to some of the theatres in Sweden; in Stockholm to the Royal Dramatic Theatre. Three separate acting colleges were established in 1964: in Gothenburg and Malmö as part of the Gothenburg and Lund Universities, respectively, and in Stockholm as an independent academy. In 1996, a fourth acting college was established in Luleå in the north of Sweden.

The Stockholm Academy has two programmes, the three-year acting programme and the three-year mime acting programme. There is also a great variety of continuation courses for actors, on different subjects and of varying length.

Admission

Students in the two programmes are selected through special auditions. One of the requirements for participating in these auditions is a good command of the Swedish language. There are today no courses for non-Swedish-speaking students. The Academy has no scholarships to offer.

Every year the Academy accepts 8-10 students to the acting programme. The number of applicants is usually 800-1000. To the mime acting programme, the number of applicants is 100-150, with auditions every third year; 8-10 students are accepted. The deadlines for applications to both programmes vary.

www.teaterhogskolan.se
info@teaterhogskolan.se
+46 8 55 60 93 00

Number of full-year students 2006: 69
Number of programmes: 2
Number of programmes in English: 0
Royal College of Music in Stockholm (KMH)

Founded in 1771, the Royal College of Music in Stockholm (KMH) is one of the largest colleges of music in Scandinavia. KMH is also Sweden’s only independent, state-owned college for higher music education.

From Folk Music to Orchestral Conducting

As a student at KMH, you will be one of more than 600 students each year who study folk music, jazz, classical music (including early music and church music), conducting (orchestral, choral, big band), composition (classical, electroacoustic, jazz), music and media technology, as well as various forms of music education, including music therapy and Dalcroze eurhythmics.

You can also apply to follow thematic studies at Edsberg Manor (Edsbergs slott), which has been part of KMH since 1999.

Programmes in music therapy and research programmes in music education are some of our other multifaceted activities, as well as artistic and pedagogical research and development projects carried out in Sweden and internationally.

Concerts and co-operation

Your personal development, and the interaction between you and your teachers, will be given primary focus during your studies here.

You will have many opportunities to decide on your own individual learning path. A large part of many programmes will also consist of concerts and productions offered through various media.

Approximately 250-300 concerts and events are offered each year at KMH. In that way, as in many others, we are one of the major contributors to the Stockholm arts scene. The general public has regular opportunities to enjoy symphony orchestra, folk music, jazz, choral, and chamber music concerts, as well as much more!

We also cooperate regularly with various organisations, institutions, and members of the business community, in a variety of contexts and settings.

The Nordplus and Erasmus exchange programmes for students and teachers play an important role among KMH’s international commitments. At least 15 percent of KMH’s student population is from other countries than Sweden. In addition, KMH has a long tradition of inviting international artists and teachers to act as guest professors for master classes, lectures, and seminars.

www.kmh.se
info@kmh.se
+46 8 16 32 00
+46 8 16 18 00

Royal Institute of Technology

KTH, the Royal Institute of Technology, is the largest technical university in Sweden. The education and research provided cover a broad spectrum of subjects, from Natural Sciences to all different branches of Engineering as well as Architecture, Industrial Economics, Social Planning, Work Science and Environmental Technology. In addition to the research carried out at KTH, the university also houses a number of national Competence Centres. Various research foundations finance a number of research programmes and research schools.

Opportunities to study at KTH

At KTH a student can earn a Master of Science in Engineering or Architecture, a Bachelor of Science in Engineering, or a Master’s, Licentiate or Doctoral Degree. There are technical preparatory courses for non-scientists and further education for people already working within the area. A total of 17 000 students participate in undergraduate programmes, over 1 400 in postgraduate courses and 3 100 people are employed at KTH.

Different campus

KTH was founded in 1827 and its main campus has been located at its current site in attractive buildings now listed as being of historical interest, in central Stockholm since 1917. In addition, KTH has developed a joint project with Stockholm University concerning education and research within Biotechnology and Physics at AlbaNova, located at Roslagstull. KTH also runs activities at its Kista Campus, the Information and Communication Technology School (ICT) and the School of Technology and Health (STH), operating in Haninge, Flemingsberg and Södertälje in the region south of Stockholm.

International activities

KTH became involved in international cooperation at a very early stage, and is today running a large number of international projects and cooperates with prestigious universities worldwide. KTH is also an attractive university for international students. During 2006, approximately 1000 exchange students and 1000 international master’s students chose to study at KTH. A broad range of Master’s programmes taught in English are offered, including several Erasmus Mundus Master’s programmes.

www.kth.se/eng
+ 46 8 790 60 00

Number of full-year students 2006: 12 093
Number of programmes: 82
Number of programmes in English: 42
Universities and university colleges

Royal University College of Fine Arts

The educational programmes at the Royal University College of Fine Arts (KKH) span over a broad field of subjects. Here, you can study Liberal Arts, Architecture and the Art of Restoration. KKH offers education at the undergraduate level as well as advanced courses for professional architects or artists.

At present, KKH has about 230 students within the educational programme of Liberal Arts. As of the autumn of 2007, it will be possible to take a three-year Bachelor’s Programme and as of 2010, there will be a two-year Master’s Programme in the Liberal Arts.

KKH also offers students the possibility of taking a one-term or one-year project programme for professional artists, a one-year advanced course in Architecture or the Art of Restoration, or a course in Art and Architecture.

Encourages critical thinking

Expressing one’s distinctive characteristics through various media, developing one’s skills, having the possibility of developing an original attitude and a critical view of artistic creation constitutes one of the goals within the Liberal Arts. Here, our educational programmes take a clear starting point in the student’s individual artistic work and extend the individual work with both theoretical and practical education in both older and more recent techniques in the KKH workshops.

At the School of Architecture at KKH, the goal is to make more profound studies of professional work in architecture and restoration of buildings as well as augmenting the knowledge of architectural history. Lectures, project work, seminars, workshops and educational visits, both in Sweden and abroad, constitute important parts of the education.

Both in the Liberal Arts and in Architecture, the teachers are professional artists, architects or teachers with other relevant professions. Our teachers have their own professional careers besides their work at KKH. This contributes to having a close contact with architecture, the world of art and society. The education is "alive" and continuously subject to change, in tune – or out of tune with current society.

www.kkh.se
info@kkh.se
+46 8 614 40 00

STUDY IN STOCKHOLM

The water and wild gardens, and snow!

Eleanor Fenton from Australia is studying Architecture at the Royal Institute of Technology, KTH. Eleanor’s first choice was actually to go to Canada but for certain reasons she ended up in Stockholm. She has no regrets. She is happy that she has the possibility to learn more about Scandinavian Architecture and she feels free to learn what she wants. The teaching style is friendly as well as informal. Eleanor finds that the most amazing thing about Stockholm is the water and the wild gardens.

- You feel that you suddenly end up in a forest although you are in the middle of the city. It is great to be able to go ice-skating outside your student room and at the same time get a view of the forest and the lake while also having the highway in the background.

- A good advantage with Stockholm, at least for me who is from Australia, is also that you can easily go to the rest of Europe. There are cheap flights and student discounts and when you are here, why not take the chance of seeing other parts of Europe?

Eleanor likes travelling and has just been to Kiruna in the northern part of Sweden. She visited the Ice Hotel in Jukkasjärvi. She also loves the snow in Stockholm since this is not something she experiences in Australia.

- KTH looks like a gingerbread house with all the snow. It is so beautiful.

As a student you are an academic equal

Lydia Bezuidenhout is away from her home country South Africa for the first time. It is quite different. The biggest experience in Stockholm so far has been a hockey game at Globen Arena although she has no idea about the rules of this game.

- Ice hockey isn’t nearly as violent as it looks on television; at least the game I watched wasn’t!

Lydia studies Political Science at Södertörn University College and she came to Stockholm because of a friend of hers, whom she met in South Africa.

She also wanted to learn more about the social welfare system here in Sweden. She appreciates the way of teaching.

- Since there are fewer students in each class, and the teacher treating you as an academic equal, you are able to learn how to express yourself more fully as well as defend your arguments. It’s a great way of teaching you how to operate in the real world of work after your studies. You feel well prepared.
Sophiahemmet University College

Sophiahemmet University College is located right in the very heart of Stockholm in the beautiful park at Sophiahemmet. The University College originates in the nursing programme that was started in 1884 by the Swedish Queen Sophia, who introduced a programme that contained both theoretical teaching and clinical training. This concept was new in Sweden at the time and was inspired by the ideas of Florence Nightingale.

Education and research

Sophiahemmet University College is a modern university college with high-quality education. All classes are given in Swedish.

Besides the three-year nursing programme, the university college provides specialist nursing programmes in Elderly Care and Prehospital Emergency Care. In addition, a programme leading to a Master of Science in Nursing, one-year, is offered.

The University College also offers commissioned education including a supplementary programme in Nursing Science for registered nurses leading to a Bachelor’s Degree with a major in Nursing, a specialist diploma programme for assisting nurses in dementia care and a variety of single-subject courses within the area of health care and nursing.

Sophia Education Online is our well-developed virtual environment for Internet-based distance learning. The system is designed for flexible e-learning with virtual class rooms, communication areas and library facilities.

Science is well integrated in all study programmes and courses. Teachers with a PhD and postgraduate students are engaged in scientific projects, mainly covering different fields of Health Care and Nursing. In addition, research is also carried out within the areas of Pedagogy, Medical Science and Psychology. The projects are frequently carried out in collaboration with scientists from other university colleges or universities in Sweden or abroad.

Study exchange programmes

Sophiahemmet University College participates in several student exchange programmes. Via these programmes international students in Nursing may apply for clinical training arranged by Sophiahemmet University College.

Stockholm School of Economics

The Stockholm School of Economics (SSE) is one of the oldest business schools in the world. Since its inception in 1909, SSE has provided the business community and the public sector with highly qualified and sought after graduates.

Academic research has a central position at SSE. The high quality of the School’s educational programmes builds on the extensive research activities of professors and researchers. SSE’s academic competitiveness within Europe was acknowledged in a recent Financial Times ranking of Master’s in Management Programmes, where SSE was ranked eighth in Europe.

International Focus

SSE’s focus is highly international. Close ties to different Swedish multinational corporations and organisations provide insights into the multifaceted challenges of global business, ensuring an internationally oriented curriculum. SSE is also a member of the prestigious international networks CEMS (Community of European Management Schools and International Companies) and PIM (Partnership in International Management).

SSE Bachelor’s Programme

The first three years of undergraduate education at SSE will result in a Bachelor of Science (BSc) in Business and Economics. The focus on a disciplinary, and topic-based education during the programme creates a well structured environment for students to learn the concepts they need to acquire to become successful managers.

The first two years are mainly taught in Swedish while the third year is taught in English. A limited Student Exchange Programme will also be offered.

SSE Master’s Programme

In the autumn of 2009, SSE will launch a two-year Master’s Programme, which will be taught entirely in English. Specializations are offered within the fields of Marketing, Management, Economics, Finance and Accounting.

An extended student exchange programme at the Master’s level provides students with the opportunity to spend one academic semester at another leading business school, attending either a Master’s or an MBA Programme. In addition to the Bachelor’s and Master’s Programmes, SSE offers a PhD Programme, a full-time MBA Programme (SSE MBA), several executive MBA Programmes (offered in Sweden, Russia and Latvia) as well as an International Graduate Programme (IGP), leading to a Master’s in Economics, Finance or Business.

The high quality of business education available at SSE attracts the very best students. We hope that you are one of them.

www.hhs.se
info@hhs.se
+46 8 736 90 00
Stockholm School of Theology

Stockholm School of Theology is an independent university college located in Bromma in the western part of Stockholm. It is a small school with approximately 500 full-time or part-time students. Subject knowledge and pedagogical aptitude are high among the teachers and we consider differences between people to be an asset. The community spirit is large.

The Theological Programme
The Theological Programme is a four-year programme including a Bachelor of Theology. Future pastors and priests are offered training in Biblical Studies, Systematic Theology, Historical Theology, Practical Theology and Theology and the World.

The programme also involves various field courses as part of the pastoral formation. At times, the Theological Programme offers a few courses taught in English.

Religious Studies for Teachers
This is a programme for those aiming at a teacher’s degree and the studies can be included in a teachers’ training programme at Stockholm Institute of Education. To be admitted to this programme or an individual course, fluency in the Swedish language is required.

Human Rights and Democracy
The thematic education in human rights is a two-year programme that leads to a University Diploma in Human Rights. The programme consists of smaller units. Students can follow the whole programme or just one individual unit. Here is a selection of courses offered in this field: Equal Value and Equal Rights, Freedom of Religion and Conscience, Women and Human Rights, The Rights of the Child and Human Rights Conventions as Practical Tools. To be admitted to this programme or an individual course, fluency in the Swedish language is required.

THS offers no scholarships for studies.

Stockholm University

Stockholm University is the region’s centre for higher education and research in the Humanities, Law, Sciences and Social Sciences. The university is situated in the middle of the first national city park in the world and is characterised by beautiful nature, unique architecture and contemporary art. The big city is nearby – the university is located only ten minutes from the urban buzz of the city with people, music, fashion, architecture and culture.

Knowledge and possibilities
Stockholm University offers more than 35 Master’s Programmes taught in English, for example Ecosystems, Governance and Globalisation, English Literature, European Law and Social Work. In addition to these programmes, the university provides a wide range of other courses that are taught in Swedish.

Education at Stockholm University has a scientific basis. It provides a strong basis of knowledge and aims at developing the students’ awareness, independence and ability for critical scrutiny. Through meetings with professors and other researchers, students get an insight into current issues and are informed about the latest research findings.

New discoveries and explanations
The research is of high quality across a broad range of areas, enabling researchers at the university to collaborate in a number of interdisciplinary projects. Many research groups are engaged at the cutting edge of contemporary research, for example in Linguistics, Commercial Law, Climate and Environmental Research, and Psychology. Four researchers from Stockholm University have all received the Nobel Prize in Chemistry, and one the Sveriges Riksbank Prize in Economic Sciences in Memory of Alfred Nobel.

Cooperation with foreign universities and research departments is a natural and important part of the activities at Stockholm University. Studying or carrying out research activities in another country gives new impressions, contacts and experience. Visiting researchers and students from other countries contribute to new ways of thinking and openness.

Stockholm University, founded in 1878, is one of the largest universities in Sweden with 39 000 students and 4 600 employees.

www.su.se
+46 8 16 20 00

Number of full-year students 2006: 21 571
Number of programmes: 130
Number of programmes in English: 35

www.ths.se
ths@ths.se
+46 8 564 357 00

Number of full-year students 2006: 220
Number of programmes: 3
Number of programmes in English: 0
At times the theological programme offers a few courses taught in English.

Number of full-year students 2006: 21 571
Number of programmes: 130
Number of programmes in English: 35
Södertörn University College

Södertörn University College was founded in 1996 and has, since its foundation, attempted to create a multidisciplinary university organisation with over 12,000 students and an extensive range of undergraduate and postgraduate courses, as well as research. In 2006, there were 750 employees, half of whom were teachers and/or researchers. Södertörn University College is located in a multicultural, dynamic and expanding area of southern Stockholm, 20 minutes from the centre of Stockholm by commuter train.

Multidisciplinary and multicultural
The large number of multidisciplinary academic programmes makes Södertörn University College unique in Sweden. Many of the courses and educational programmes deal with issues of ethnicity, migration and nationalism in modern Europe.

Södertörn University College specialises in the Humanities and Social Sciences, particularly Contemporary History, Urban Research, Labour Market Studies, Coastal Zone Management, Business and Entrepreneurship. And the Life Sciences, particularly Biology, Molecular Life Sciences and Environmental Sciences.

A strong link between teaching and research
A considerable part of the ongoing research in the Social Sciences and the Humanities focuses on the history and culture of Eastern and Central Europe, particularly the Baltic Sea Region.

Södertörn University College has the right to confer Bachelor’s and Master’s Degrees. The university college offers more than 40 academic programmes within the Humanities, Social Sciences, Life Sciences and Education. In addition, there are over 400 single-subject courses.

Extensive international ties
Södertörn University College has extensive international ties, including agreements with over 90 different universities worldwide. The majority of these are with universities in Europe within the framework of the Erasmus Programme that deals with exchanges for both students and teachers. The university college also participates in the International Student Exchange Programme (ISEP), the Linnaeus-Palme Programme and the Minor Field Studies Programme (MFS).

Currently, we welcome approximately 220 exchange students every year. International students who are not a part of an exchange programme may also study at Södertörn University College. Any foreigner who is a resident in Sweden is welcome to take Swedish university college courses. Swedish is the language of instruction in the majority of the undergraduate programmes and courses, but we also offer a range of courses in English.

www.sh.se
studentservice@sh.se
+46 8 608 32 00

The Erica Foundation

The Erica Foundation has been commissioned by the Swedish government and the Stockholm County Council to run university-level training and provide psychotherapeutic treatment for children, adolescents and their families. The foundation integrates various training and clinical activities with research and method development work.

Prerequisite: education in a caring profession
Educational programmes are offered to those who already have basic education in a caring profession. Examples of educations given at the Erica Foundation are advanced training in psychotherapy targeting children and young people (Graduate Diploma in Psychotherapy), education in psychodiagnostics and clinical assessment of children, advanced special pedagogical education for pre-school teachers, as well as for supervisors.

The work of the foundation is based on psychodynamic theory, developmental psychology research and research in psychotherapy as well as clinical experience. Access to a broad network, both national and international, is important for the development of the work of the foundation.

The staff includes physicians, psychologists, qualified social workers, special education teachers and administrators. The staff represents a spectrum of specialists within child and adolescent psychiatry, education, psychotherapy and research.

International cooperation
The clinical research we carry out contributes to the possibility of integrating current developmental psychology research and research in psychotherapy with clinical experience. There is an ongoing cooperation in treatment, education and research with similar institutions in, for example, England, Italy and the Nordic countries.

www.ericastiftelsen.se
+46 8 402 17 60
The Red Cross University College of Nursing

The Red Cross University of Nursing, RKH, offers an education leading to a Bachelor’s Degree in Nursing, as well as single-subject courses for nurses. The university college also provides courses for specialist nurses and awards a Master’s Degree in Nursing. We also carry out commissioned education within the area of medical care. The number of students is about 500. Our education of nurses has existed since 1867.

A thorough knowledge of written and spoken Swedish is necessary for our undergraduate as well as postgraduate courses since, with few exceptions, all literature and all lectures are in Swedish.

Humanity and impartiality

The university college has the Non Profit Foundation for The Red Cross Hospital and The Red Cross University of Nursing as its principal. It is important for us to work in accordance with the basic principles of the Red Cross: humanity, impartiality, neutrality, independence, unity, voluntary service and universality.

We have well-established contacts with universities and university colleges all over the world, for example through exchange programmes and research exchange.

Field studies and research

Besides traineeships abroad within exchange programmes, the students are also offered the possibility of carrying out field studies in other countries and participating in international courses and conferences. You get a good contact with ongoing research at the university college, for example through lectures and seminars given by our teachers who are active within research.

The individual university college

The Red Cross University of Nursing is a small university college that combines tradition and renewal in order to provide a high-quality education. You easily get into contact with the staff at the university college and have large possibilities of influencing your education.

The theoretical education has been provided on the university college’s own modern premises at The Red Cross Hospital within Campus KTH since 2004. You easily get here by bus, underground or Roslagsbanan to Tekniska Högskolan.

The clinical education is provided at Karolinska University Hospital in Solna and at clinics in the city and the western part of Stockholm.

www.rkh.se
+46 8 587 516 00

Number of full-year students 2006: 405
Number of programmes: 1
Number of programmes in English: 0

STUDY IN STOCKHOLM

Let a student mentor guide you

Hélène Van Kerrebroeck is an international student from Belgium. She wanted to improve her English skills and had also heard that Stockholm is good at educating students in Political Science. Hélène was lucky to get a student mentor when she came. The mentor gave her all the information she needed to get an easy and enjoyable start of her stay.

– I have been to restaurants, cafés and areas that I wouldn’t have found on my own. It really helps you to get some tips from someone who lives here.

About the prices in Sweden, she says that they are about the same as in Belgium. The cost of accommodation, though, is almost the same as in smaller Belgian cities.

Since Hélène is a student at Stockholm University, she is close to the fitness centre, Frescatihallen, where she can do all kinds of sports. She misses not having a bit more interaction with Swedish students but she thinks that this would be the same in Belgium, since you as an international student, is only here for a short while.

– I am really satisfied with my stay. I have made a lot of new good friends among the international students. I and my friends have many nice dinner parties in the corridor and every week, we try to find new ways of exploring Stockholm and its surroundings.

Culturally a big city

Jürgen Schleiting comes from Oldenburg in Germany and studies at Södertörn University College.

He visited Stockholm a couple of years ago as a tourist and was thrilled by it. He decided that he also wanted to experience the city as a student, and take the opportunity to improve his English. He is surprised by the scenery in Stockholm. There is so much water and he thinks that although Stockholm is culturally a big city, it is quite small as a capital.

– Stockholm has a lot to offer. I love going to different museums and then Stockholm is the right town for me. The only thing I would like to change is to live closer to the city centre. But then, that is only a minor problem in the evenings when the trains don’t go so often.
The Stockholm Institute of Education

The Stockholm Institute of Education has the most comprehensive degree programmes in Sweden. We have considerable knowledge and competence within all areas of teacher education. The institute has 14,000 students and a staff of 700 people. The teaching staff are all specialised in the field of education and the courses hold a high academic standard. More information can be found at www.lhs.se/english.

Campus Konradsberg
Thousands of prospective and in-service teachers meet at our campus, Campus Konradsberg. Here, a diversity of people with different backgrounds and capabilities interact: students, teachers, researchers, fellow students and colleagues. The Stockholm Institute of Education has created a vital and dynamic campus, a cultural centre that is a stimulating environment for dialogue.

Academic System
In Sweden we use a modular system and a course is normally considered as full-time studies. The academic studies are organised as courses. Lecturers work together in teams and intertwine different aspects and perspectives of the course content.

Merges with Stockholm University
The Stockholm Institute of Education and Stockholm University have agreed on a proposal for transferring the institute’s operations to the university. The activities of the institute that are to be transferred include education of teachers, special-education teachers, study and careers counsellors, vocational teachers, care teachers and an extensive range of independent-study programmes and commissioned education activities. A merger of the two institutes of higher education is planned to take place in January 2008.

www.lhs.se/english
+46 8 77 55 00

The Swedish School of Sport and Health Sciences

The Swedish School of Sport and Health Sciences (GIH) was founded in 1813 by Pehr Henrik Ling. This makes it the oldest institute for higher education within its field in the world. GIH offers degree programmes and courses in Health Education, Coaching, and Physical Education Teacher Training.

We provide a high level of teaching, primarily within the areas of Human Biology, Physical Education and Pedagogics/Didactics. Around 600 students are enrolled. The language of instruction is currently Swedish. Applicants therefore need advanced Swedish language skills at the time of their application. There are, however, plans for developing courses in English.

Sport Pedagogics and Human Biology
The emphasis of the research at GIH is on Sports Pedagogics and Human Biology, and it is characterized by its close contacts with students and a growing international exchange. The research on Behavioural Science is carried out in collaboration with the Stockholm Institute of Education. Research in Human Biology is conducted in collaboration with Karolinska Institutet and focuses especially on two areas: Exercise Physiology, and Biomechanics and Motor Control. In addition, the institution also collaborates with schools and sport organizations, which is valuable for both education and research. Sweden’s largest laboratory for applied sport science was developed here, with support from the Swedish Olympic Committee and the Swedish Sports Confederation.

Specialist library on health and sports
The GIH Library is the only specialist library on sports, physical education and health in Sweden. The collections consist of about 60,000 books and 230 periodicals. Today, the collections contain books in the fields of gymnastics, sports, physiology, biomechanics, physical activity and health etc. GIH is centrally located next to a beautiful eco park, which has both natural and cultural values and also offers excellent opportunities for sports and recreation. The 1912 Olympic Stadium is situated near the campus and gives the area a special atmosphere.

www.gih.se
info@gih.se
+46 8 402 22 00

Number of full-year students 2006: 13,000
Number of programmes: 3
Number of programmes in English: 0
Do have 8 courses in English

Number of full-year students 2006: 505
Number of programmes: 3
Number of programmes in English: 0
Do plan to start some courses in English
The University College of Opera, Stockholm

Operahögskolan i Stockholm traces its history back to 1772 when King Gustavus III founded the Royal Opera. From then until 1968 the education of opera singers took place under either the auspices of the Royal Opera or the Royal Academy of Music (Kungliga Musikhögskolan). An independent school of opera was founded in 1968 and Operahögskolan i Stockholm is now a fully-fledged university college.

Vocal, physical and dramatic training

Operahögskolan educates singers, répétiteurs and opera directors. It has around 40 students, including 36 singers. Our aim is to integrate vocal and musical study with physical and dramatic training. We equip singers with tools for the independent preparation of operatic roles. Répétiteurs and opera directors are also given the complex skills they need to coach and direct opera in the 21st century.

The three-year Bachelor’s degree programme provides a complete education for the aspiring opera singer. Subjects of study include voice, solo and ensemble singing, repertoire, role and language studies, drama, movement and stagecraft, and opera history. Individual practical and group tuition is complemented by lectures and seminars on all aspects of opera.

The two-year Master’s degree programme is for singers who already possess a Bachelor’s degree and/or have significant experience of professional work within opera or music theatre.

The University College of Arts, Crafts and Design

The University College of Arts, Crafts and Design is the largest university college of arts, crafts and design education in Sweden. The school was founded in 1844. Every year, about 900 students are enrolled in the undergraduate and Master’s programmes, the Art Education programmes and single-subject courses.

At Konstfack, we place a great value on your aptitude for individual expression and your theoretical and practical professional skills. Give us your skills and your desire for advanced learning, and we will give you the tools you need to change the world!

The Bachelor’s Programme:

In the three-year undergraduate programme, leading to the qualifications for a Bachelor’s Degree in Fine Arts, you can choose among seven different programmes such as Graphic Design and Illustration, Industrial Design, Interior Architecture and Furniture Design, Ceramics and Glass, Fine Art, Textiles and Jewellery and Metal Design (Ädellab).

The undergraduate programme is conducted in Swedish but in certain cases, non-Swedish speaking students may participate for a restricted period of time.

The Master’s Programme

In 2007, the university introduces a new Master’s programme. The prerequisites are a Bachelor’s Degree and a good knowledge in English.

At the two-year graduate level leading to the qualifications for a Master’s Degree in Fine Arts, the Master’s programme offers nine different disciplines called Master’s Groups which are Storytelling, Form Giving Intelligence, InSpace, Experience Design, Art in the Public Realm, Critical Writing and Curatorial Practice, Ceramics and Glass, Jewellery, and Corpus and Textiles in the Expanded Field.

The Master’s programme is conducted in English and/or Swedish, and prepares you for both research and professional careers.

Teacher Education Programme

The Teacher Education Programme lasts four years and a half and leads to a Bachelor’s Degree in Education in Visual Culture, Art and Design (270-300 ECTS credits). This can later be supplemented with an additional semester of studies in order to qualify for a Master’s Degree in Education in Visual Art and Design.

Number of full-year students 2006: 38
Number of programmes: 4
Number of programmes in English: 0

Number of full-year students 2006: 880
Number of programmes: 9
Number of programmes in English: 1
University College of Dance

University College of Dance is the only school of its kind for dance and neo circus in Sweden’s system of higher education. Our prestigious institution has the sole responsibility for instructing an expanding student body in a broad range of dance-related fields: Dance Performance, Neo Circus, Dance Pedagogy, Choreography and Dance Therapy. It is a dynamic and creative environment where art and research go hand in hand. At our school, tradition is challenged by innovation and experiment. It is a meeting place for art, pedagogy and science, old and new theoretical concepts. Popular traditions gain new meaning and new artistic careers develop to change our ideas about what is known.

Art of dance and neo circus in development

Our training programmes are conducted in close collaboration between art and scientific research with a focus on dance and neo circus. They aim at developing new forms of work and clarifying the inherent possibilities of dance and neo circus art in our society, using the knowledge of our history and traditions. We offer a strong, creative network for the various professions within dance and neo circus, together with other art forms. After completing your studies at the University College of Dance, you will have a strong artistic and scientific identity; be independent and have excellent insights into your own abilities and needs, as well as an understanding of the demands of the workplace. You can enter your career with great expectations, a power to compete and a knowledge of how to best show competence. We do not train people for today's demands; we target future demands. Our students and your visions will challenge the present and change the world!

Large international cooperation

The University College of Dance is a strong hub in the Swedish Dance environment. It is dedicated to the highest standards of quality and professionalism in artistic production, teaching, research and administration. From its unique position, it is also committed to an active role in matters of public policy concerning the arts, culture and education. Our students, teachers and professors move over national borders as the workplace is expanding. As a Centre of Excellence, we work together with national and international networks as well as in forums for artistic and educational debate. The University College of Dance is mainly a very exciting place to be!

www.danshogskolan.se
info@danshogskolan.se
+46 8 459 05 00
International coordinator: +46 8 459 05 55

University College of Film, Radio, Television and Theatre

This is where the film, radio, tv and theatre of the future is created! At the University College of Film, Radio, Television and Theatre (DI) you can get an education in a number of professions within radio, tv, film and theatre. We have basic educations, advanced courses and further education for those with professional experience. We provide a mixture between lectures and seminars and various projects. Most of the time, you work on various production projects. You often work in a group and learn to cooperate with other professions within your area. We work on “real-life” exercises and productions in full-scale production environments, aiming at professional activities after obtaining the degree.

We always have the story in focus

Here, you can chose among sixteen basic educational programmes, advanced education programmes as well as shorter courses and seminars. We also carry out artistic development work in the form of research projects, research collegium and participation in research institutes. We cooperate a great deal with professionals, many of the most prominent professionals teach at the school as permanent teachers or visiting teachers. We also have many Nordic and international contacts and cooperate with other artistic universities colleges. Our student productions participate in international festivals and trainee-periods often constitute part of the educational programmes.

Admission to most of our educational programmes takes place every second year; there is admission to the radio and tv programmes every year. However, the number of students is 4-12 per programme and year. There are about 160 students at the school each year. Most students get a job within their area after completing the education. The deadline for applications is in December-January for the following autumn semester, and at the beginning of September for the following spring term. Admission takes places through different kinds of admission tests.

Stage and media give to each other

DI is the only university college in Sweden that provides educations within several forms of art for the stage and the media, which gives us unique opportunities for cross-border cooperations. The DI activities started in 1970 but we have been located in a new building on Valhallavägen. In this five-storey building there are for example studio premises for film, radio, tv and theatre, a cinema, a theatre, studios, workshops and premises for editing.

www.dramatiskainstitutet.se
info@dramatiskainstitutet.se
+46 8 55 57 20 00

---

Number of full-year students 2006: 145
Number of programmes: 5
Number of programmes in English: 0

---

Number of full-year students 2006: 160
Number of programmes: 16
Number of programmes in English: 0

---

Photo by: Jyrki Siikanen

---

Photo by: Åke Strommarth
University College of Music Education in Stockholm

The University College of Music Education in Stockholm, SMI, was founded in 1960 and is an independent university college for education in music and related arts. SMI educates music teachers and teachers in speech and communication.

SMI is located in a beautiful school building from 1912 in the centre of Stockholm. It is a small university college where you get to know everyone and where you share classes with students from various programmes in pedagogical and artistic projects.

Undergraduate Programme
SMI offers a three-year undergraduate programme to become a music teacher in compulsory and upper secondary school, in schools of music and arts or other types of schools. The programme gives you a Bachelor of Education in Music (180 ECTS credits).

Auditions are held once a year. The deadline for applications is normally February 15. The minimum age for applicants is 22. Experience from working as a music teacher will be evaluated as a qualification. Studying at SMI includes your own music teaching practice.

Further Education
To be accepted for further education, you must have a Bachelor of Education or a Bachelor of Arts. Further education includes: Teachers in speech and communication with a focus on aesthetics (120 ECTS credits), Music teachers in ensemble with a focus on chamber and symphony orchestra (120 ECTS credits), Programme with a focus on compulsory and upper secondary school for music teachers of instruments or singing (30-60 ECTS credits), and Programme with a focus on instrumental teaching methods for musicians (60 ECTS credits).

SMI also offers a large number of single subject courses for further education of teachers in music and other fields.

The language of instruction is Swedish. SMI does not provide any scholarships.

www.smi.se
smi@smi.se
+46 8 611 05 02

Number of full-year students 2006: 76
Number of programmes: 6
Number of programmes in English: 0
Welcome to Stockholm!
www.studyinstockholm.se

Beckmans College of Design
Ersta Sköndal University College
Karolinska Institutet
National Academy of Mime and Acting
Royal College of Music in Stockholm (KMH)
Royal Institute of Technology
Royal University College of Fine Arts
Sophiahemmet University College
Stockholm School of Economics
Stockholm School of Theology
Stockholm University
Södertörn University College
The Erica Foundation
The Red Cross University College of Nursing
The Stockholm Institute of Education
The Swedish School of Sport and Health Sciences
The University College of Opera
University College of Arts, Crafts and Design
University College of Dance
University College of Film, Radio, Television and Theatre
University College of Music Education in Stockholm